VTech Hospitality Phones Achieve Zero Touch Provisioning Certification with Xorcom PBX Systems

[Tigard, ORE] — [4/8/25] — VTech Hospitality, a leading provider of innovative communication solutions for the hospitality industry, is excited to announce that its guest room telephone offering sets have successfully achieved Zero Touch Provisioning (ZTP) certification with Xorcom's PBX systems. This certification marks a significant milestone in simplifying the deployment process, providing enhanced efficiency for resellers and seamless installation experiences for end users.

With the ZTP certification, VTech's sets can now be automatically configured upon connection to the network, eliminating the need for manual setup. This development dramatically reduces installation time, mitigates human error, and ensures faster, more reliable deployments for hotels, resorts, and other hospitality venues.

"We're thrilled to offer this Zero Touch Provisioning integration with Xorcom's PBX systems," said Chad M. Collins, Vice President, Sales at VTech Hospitality. "This partnership allows us to provide a more streamlined and automated solution, making the installation process faster and easier for our mutual resellers, while improving overall efficiency and guest experience for our customers."

As hospitality technology continues to evolve, ZTP has become an essential tool for simplifying device deployment, improving operational efficiency, and minimizing downtime. For resellers, this certification translates into a more cost-effective, hassle-free deployment process, allowing them to focus on delivering top-tier services to their clients. For end users, it means a quicker and more reliable installation, enhancing the overall user experience from the moment the device is powered on.

"We're excited about how this certification helps us better serve both our partners and customers," said Eran Gal, CEO at Xorcom. "It allows us to deliver a more efficient solution that benefits everyone involved, from resellers to end users, reducing setup time and ensuring a smooth, seamless process."

VTech Hospitality is committed to continuous innovation in the hospitality technology space, ensuring its products meet the evolving needs of the industry while providing unmatched ease of use and reliability.
