

Dialexia certifies interoperability with VTech

POINTE-CLAIRE, Quebec - July 27, 2016—Dialexia Communications, Inc., a global VoIP PBX software provider, and VTech Communications, Inc., a global leader and manufacturer of SIP-based phones, have certified interoperability. The two companies successfully completed interoperability testing of VTech's ErisTerminal® and ErisStation® SIP phones and Dialexia's award-winning products—IP PBX Dial-Office and HERO Hosted PBXs.

“Dialexia is very pleased to partner with VTech in bringing our combined products to the market. By ensuring our product interoperability, we can offer scalable, fully SIP-compliant solutions that are really reliable to IP PBX customers, service providers who offer hosted PBX services and hotel guests,” said Mohamed El-Mohri, chief technology officer, Dialexia Communications.

Comprehensive tests involved the interoperability of Dial-Office and HERO with VTech SIP phones, including:

- VSP715 ErisTerminal SIP Deskset: supports up to 2 SIP accounts
- VSP725 ErisTerminal SIP Deskset: supports up to 3 SIP accounts
- VSP726 ErisTerminal SIP Deskset: supports up to 4 SIP accounts
- VSP735 ErisTerminal SIP Deskset: supports up to 5 SIP accounts
- VSP736 ErisTerminal SIP Deskset: supports up to 6 SIP accounts
- VCS754 ErisStation SIP Conference Phone with Four Wireless Mics: supports up to 3 SIP accounts
- VSP600 ErisTerminal SIP DECT Base Station and Cordless Handset: supports up to 6 cordless handsets
- VSP601 ErisTerminal SIP DECT Cordless Handset
- VSP608 ErisTerminal Accessory DECT Cordless Handset
- VSP505 ErisTerminal SIP DECT Cordless Headset

The Dialexia-VTech partnership and the companies' combined solutions ensure that next-generation IP service providers and enterprise customers can easily deploy IP telephony to connect their distant branch locations, while maintaining all major PBX features available at their corporate offices. As such, users can benefit from features like voicemail, 3-way call conferencing and call forwarding.

Dialexia's flagship products, Dial-Office and HERO, along with VTech's SIP phones, guarantee effortless provisioning and full interoperability. Resellers and end users will have an easy-to-deploy, high quality and feature-rich phone system. The partnership is a low-cost solution that brings IP telephony services to small and medium-sized enterprises (SME) and hospitality customers.

“VTech is excited to partner with Dialexia to bring more SIP options to service providers and end-users. Dialexia's IP PBX solutions, combined with VTech's SIP phones, add flexibility and increase productivity in the workplace,” said Graham Williams, vice president, Business Phones Division, VTech Communications.
